

COPYRIGHT © DELPHI.SE 2012

Delphi is the holder of the intellectual property rights to the contents and publications found on Delphi's website. This means that the material may not be copied (even for private use), spread or published without us having provided consent. Sometimes we get requests from private individuals and companies who want to use, publish or spread material to which we have the rights and which is on the website. We try to meet such requests if it is possible. If you have any such questions, please send them to marknad@delphi.se. If you link to the website, please ensure that this is by way of referenced links and that Delphi's website opens in a new window.